

NEW TIMES NEW MEASURES NEW FORMAT

PAULE WENDELBERGER COACHING

We would like you to know that we took a step forward in developing our business and created a new format for our coaching activities.

Our seminars and workshops are now available for all customers online as well — as interactive webinars.

In order to provide the best possible experience we invested time and resources to build a professional studio equipped with state-of-the-art technology.

It was a rather steep learning curve for us yet the results speak for themselves...

While extensively testing the new format with teams in Germany as well as overseas we've come to understand the potential of this technology.

Over the coming years we will keep on improving the online experience for our customers and participants.

Since the technology is in the early stages of development there still remains enough space for improvement by the software engineers.

Different systems for video calling are being used by the industry. We are prepared to cater to these needs.

Our webinars can be conducted over Zoom as well as Microsoft Teams.

We are excited about these developments and hope we could kindle your interest in our services.

It would be our pleasure to answer your questions, send you more information or — even better — talk to you on Zoom or Teams...
